Cement-Plant Air Pollution: Members passed, 262-161, a GOP bill to nullify Environmental Protection Agency rules now being phased in to curb air pollution by some 150 U.S. plants that make cement. A yes vote was to pass HR 2681 as a jobs-saving bill. Foes said it would perpetuate unhealthy air.		Y	Y	Y	N	N
Mercury, Infants, Jobs: Members refused, 166-246, to subject cement-making kilns to new Environmental Protection Agency rules aimed at keeping mercury emissions from harming infants and children. A yes vote backed a change in HR 2681 (above) that opponents said would cost jobs.		N	N	N	*	Y
Pollution, Children, Jobs: Members refused, 167-243, to uphold EPA rules due by 2012 to curb pollution by industrial boilers. A yes vote was to expedite rules for protecting infants and children from mercury. Foes said the underlying bill (HR 2250), which remained in debate, was necessary to save jobs.		N	N	N	Y	Y
Stopgap 2012 Budget: Voting 352-66, the House sent President Obama a bill to fund agencies at fiscal 2011 levels for the first six-plus weeks of fiscal 2012. A yes vote was to approve a stopgap budget through Nov. 18 that includes disaster aid not offset by spending cuts. (HR 2608)		Y	Y	Y	Y	Y
